

The General Policy of Voting Rights

Introduction:

SAB Invest Company manages a group of investment funds on behalf of the unitholders of these funds. The Company developed this guide to set out the policy related to voting at ordinary and extraordinary general assemblies of shareholders, and voting on any resolutions related to securities in which the funds managed by Sab Invest Company invest. Voting rights are exercised in a manner that best serves the interest of the unitholders as deemed appropriate by the fund manager, taking into consideration the regulations and legislations of the Capital Market Authority.

Policy:

1. Voting rights are exercised in a manner that best serves the interest of the unitholders as deemed appropriate by the fund manager, taking into consideration the related factors, including but not limited to: conflict of interests, impact on securities, and costs associated with decisions.
2. The fund manager decides, at their discretion, exercising or not exercising any voting rights.
3. The fund manager, at their discretion, abstains from voting and refrains from participating in voting if they see no material benefit would be achieved from voting. For example, without limitation, the fund manager abstains, at their discretion, from voting on decisions related to the following:
 - Electing directors
 - Voting on affiliated and subsidiary companies that hold controlling interest in Sab Invest Company.
 - Approving the chartered accountant
 - Determining Dividends
 - Matters relating to social responsibility
 - Approving or amending management compensation programs or granting discharge of their liability
 - Decisions related to companies that SAB Invest does not consider strategic component, such as companies in which Sab Invest seeks to invest in the short run, or such companies considered non-core component of Sab Invest
4. The fund manager, at their discretion, votes when they see voting would achieve a material benefit. For example, without limitations, the fund manager, at their discretion, votes on the following decision and cases:
 - Changes to the structure of the capital
 - Company restructuring, merger and acquisition

- In case the fund manager determines that voting on any decision that would be abstained from according to this policy is critical.
5. A full record documenting the exercised voting or abstention rights and the respective reasons shall be maintained.
 6. The funds managed by SAB Invest are represented in the general assembly meetings by authorized employees.
 7. Any conflict of interest that might arise from voting shall be assessed, and SAB Invest's Board of Directors and the compliance officer or committee shall be notified of such conflict, if any.
 8. The voting rights are vested in the fund manager not the unitholders; therefore, no unitholder may oblige the fund manager to vote under any circumstances.
 9. Any change or amendment to this policy shall be subject to prior approval of SAB Invest's Board of Directors.

This voting policy was approved by the Board of Directors of the mutual funds on 10/07/2025, and it is followed by the mutual funds listed below:
